"For those who wish to familiarize themselves with the seashore populations and the general ecology around Cape Ann and other northern New England waters, for text and illustrations this is the best handbook that I have yet seen for the serious student or the enthusiastic amateur. It has been a great help to me in my expeditions in search of added knowledge and extra enjoyment of Nature along this wonderful stretch of the famed New England Coast."

MARY M. CERULLO

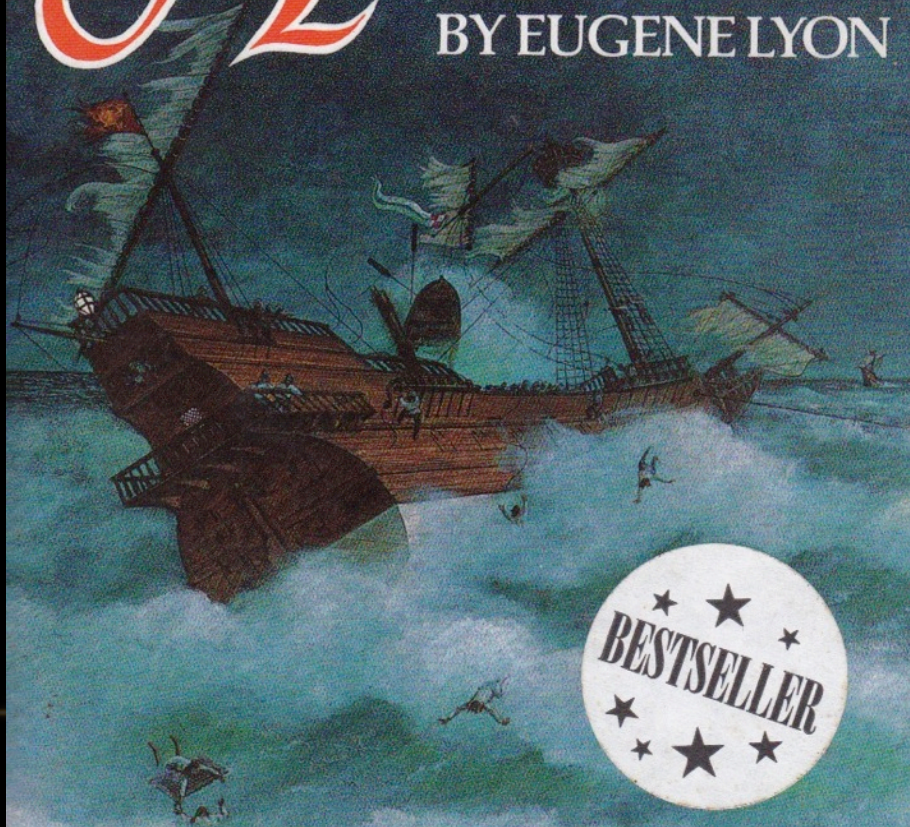

SHIPWRECKS

An underwater photograph showing two divers exploring a large, dark shipwreck. The diver in the foreground is on the left, facing right, holding a flashlight. The diver in the background is further up and to the right, also holding a flashlight. The shipwreck is a large, dark, vertical structure. The water is blue and slightly murky. The title 'SHIPWRECKS' is written in large, gold, 3D block letters across the top. The author's name 'MARY M. CERULLO' is at the very top in small white letters. At the bottom, there is a torn paper effect with the text 'EXPLORING SUNKEN CITIES BENEATH THE SEA' in dark blue letters.
